

DESIGN AND FUNCTION

Business and occupational growth in French Lick and surrounding areas has spurred the need for additional healthcare services for residents and visitors.

French Lick Promptcare is a state-of-the-art facility located in a new, mixed-use complex across from French Lick Resort.

The facility will provide treatment for minor injuries, illnesses and conditions previously requiring a long trip to the emergency department.

Promptcare also delivers wellness and occupational health services to employees and employers within the area.

Cooler Design guided hospital and Promptcare staff through the design process and created an up-to-date medical suite bringing much needed medical services to the community.

The facility includes an on-site lab and x-ray services. Just as important, the project budget dictated cost efficiency while still instituting a beautiful aesthetic.

GREEN NEWS

LEED (Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design) is a green building rating system developed by USGBC (U.S. Green Building Council). Buildings are designed, constructed and commissioned to high levels of energy efficiency, environmental friendliness and "green accomplishment".

LEED AP (accredited professional) is a credential that states that an individual has a thorough understanding of the LEED rating system and its application to projects.

We are pleased to announce that Scott Duell has attained LEED AP status. Cooler Design looks forward to creating environmentally friendly buildings that benefit all. Let us create your next green project.
